Most biochemists agree that in prokaryotic microorganisms, a total of 36 molecules of ATP can be produced during cellular respiration. In eukaryotic cells, the number is 34 molecules of ATP. Two molecules of ATP are produced as the net gain of glycolysis, so the grand total is 38 molecules of ATP (36 in eukaryotes).

In yeast cells (the yeast used for baking bread and producing alcoholic beverages), glucose can be metabolized through cellular respiration as in other cells. When oxygen is lacking, however, glucose is still metabolized to pyruvic acid via glycolysis. The pyruvic acid is converted first to acetaldehyde and then to ethyl alcohol.
